Experience

Nancy Kottenstette attended the AIB College of Business in Des Moines, Iowa earning an Associate's Degree in Judicial Realtime Reporting in 2005. She spent ten years in Indianapolis working on many different litigation cases, including hearings, arbitrations and complex environmental cases. Nancy is a member of NCRA, WCRA and Ethics First. Nancy enjoys many outdoor activities including running, hiking, gardening, camping and traveling, especially with her King Charles puppy, Sage, who has been to 25 states. Nancy loves her professional career which, in her words, presents challenging and interesting opportunities to meet new people and hone her litigation skills.

Quote

I just fell into the court reporting profession while in high school, and knowing very little about it, I decided to sign up to pursue it in college. I would never change that career choice. The job is always challenging and interesting, and there is always something new to learn at every job.
